

Business Email Accounts

Do your business email addresses look something like mycompany@btconnect.com or mycompany@tiscali.co.uk? Do your staff therefore have to use a.name@btconnect.com or a.name@tiscali.co.uk - or worse still, their own personal email accounts for business emails?

If you answer 'yes' to any of these questions, then it's about time you thought about having a business email account.

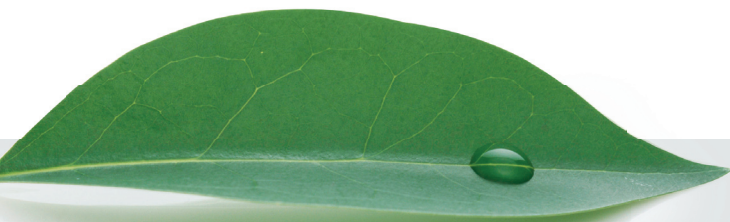

Even if your business doesn't have a website, by registering an appropriate domain name you can create business email accounts, therefore giving your company a much more professional and corporate image.

UK domain names (e.g. www.yourcompany.co.uk) with 5 email accounts costs just £30 (+ VAT) per 2 years and .com domains with 5 email accounts are just £50 (+ VAT) per 2 years - and we'll even help you to set them up! Better still, if you ever decide to change your broadband provider, your business emails will not be affected - they'll just continue to work.

If you already have a domain name registered, call us to find out what your options are. You may even save money by letting us look after the domain for you. For more details or to check domain name availability give Debbi a call on 01254 356439.
